GOLDEN CITY CRUISERS NEWSLETTER

October 2024

Danny Davis, President 770-328-9663

GCC, P.O. Box 973
Villa Rica, GA 30180

President's Corner

I hope everyone is doing well and no one is still under the weather. As you know, our friend Billy had a heart scare after our last cruise-in and is still seeing specialists to figure out exactly what happened. Meanwhile he is feeling fine with orders to take it easy for a while. We hope the scary part is over and it's smooth sailing, with nothing more than a baby aspirin. If you know of anyone else under the weather, please let us know so we can keep them in our thoughts & prayers.

I want to thank everybody who helped set up and take at the cruise in. It was hot and as Jimmy will tell you, it was confusing in the beginning. Great job members.

Heads up folks...it's time to pay your membership dues of $36.00 dollars! Our dues should be paid by the first meeting in November. Don't wait! There are several reasons to get them in on time. First, you must have your dues paid up to vote on your upcoming board members, or to accept a board position. Second, we want all of our members back in 2025! Please don't make us hunt you down! We will be collecting dues at our October meeting and the November meeting, and by mail at any time.

Well, I've already told you time is like a roll of toilet paper. We have 3 weeks and 2 days until the big day of our Super Cruise and it is flying by fast. This is what we still need:

- Door prizes to be given away throughout the event. Value around $25.

- Items for our money tree around $25.00.
- Please, it's time to clean out your closets and garages for good condition, clean items for our silent auction table. We have always done pretty good with it in the past, but we need everybody's help.

Our Super Cruise is Saturday October 19, and our rain date is Sunday October 20. We need to be at the Mill amphitheater at 8:30 that Saturday to get everything set up. There is more to do here than a regular cruise. We need everybody's help if possible.

Our meeting is this coming Tuesday, October 1, with dinner at 6:00 o'clock and meeting at 7:00 o'clock. I hope to see a lot of you there. Come and support your car club & help support our sponsor Mike at the Olive Tree.

In closing, I want to remind you of a car show on October 5 from 9 to 2 o'clock at Westview Baptist Church, 5901 Hwy 5, Douglasville. The show is put on by Anthony & Robin Bell. If you are able to attend, please do so. The Bells have supported our events for years. You can register from 9 to 12. The cost is $20.00 per car. This is their 2nd Annual Show. Thanks. See you Tuesday!

Vice President's Report

We just held our last regular cruise-in of the season this past Saturday, September 21st. It was a little scary at first due to the City of Villa Rica using our normal parking area for parking for the Gold Rush Festival. Our members started arriving at 3:00PM to set up for our cruise-in and the parking lot was full of non cruise-in cars. I mention this only to recognize our membership and their hard work and commitment to our club. Our members did not panic nor hesitate to get involved as they arrived. They quickly set up entry barriers to the parking lot and directed traffic in and out prior to our event. As the non-participating cars left the area, our group backfilled their parking spaces with those who were participating in our event. I was extremely proud of our members for making the transition appear as seamless as possible to our participants. The cruise-in was successful and all had a good time.

However, our work is not complete as members of the Golden City Cruisers Car Club. We are asking our club members to be at the Villa Rica Mill Amphitheater no later than 8:30AM on October 19th to assist with setting up and preparing for our Annual Super Cruise-In.

This is one of our main events to raise money for our charities. Danny has asked for us to get donations such as gift cards ($25 minimum) and items for our silent auction. As always, we will accept cash donations. We need all hands on-deck to make this event a success.

Also, our membership renewals are due by November 1st. The cost to be a member is $36 per fiscal year (November – October). Remember, you cannot vote or hold a board position if your dues are not paid.

Lastly, a committee was formed and assigned to gather nominations of those members interested in holding a position on the board. The requirements can be found in our Bylaws; Article II, Section 3: Privileges.

Members are entitled to all Club privileges and shall have the right to vote or hold office. Each membership shall entitle a maximum of one vote per family member, up to a maximum of two votes per membership.

The nominations will be discussed at our club meeting scheduled on October 1st at 7:00PM at The Olive Tree Restaurant in Villa Rica, GA.

In closing, I want to thank each our members for their participation and commitment to our club and our GCC scheduled events. To grow as a club, we must continue to get involved and make an impact to the community. We are recognized for our hard work and for giving back. I hope to see you all at the next club meeting.

Integrity, a rare word in todays society. General Colin Powell referenced this in a speech some 20 years ago. He described integrity as "doing what's right when nobody is looking". What a soul searching statement. I have lived my life with a similar philosophy, do what's right even if it cost you money.

In 2015 I sold a '55 Ford Fairlane to a man in Oklahoma. On receipt of the car he called to complain of a dead battery and windshield wipers not working. Hearing his complaint, I responded, "return the car, I will pay the shipping and return your money." He declined.

As it turned out:

Complaint #2 Windshield wiper not working - vacuum wipers were slow at best.

I mailed him a copy of the new battery and new wiper motor receipts, showing him they were both replaced in the restoration. I didn't hear from him again until a month later.

"This is Perry, I bought your '55 Ford. I want to apologize for falsely accusing you earlier. I own a '55 Crown Victoria and a '57 Skyliner (retractable). I get more attention with your '55 Fairlane than the other two. I love the car.” I thanked him and we parted friends.

Always tell the truth, no matter what it cost.

Squatted Trucks are Illegal?

Whether you call them squatted trucks, tooted trucks, or “Carolina Squat,” drivers of these custom trucks may be subject to fines and license suspensions if caught cruising in certain states.

After May 10, South Carolina Squat truck owners will be subject to fines and potential loss of license if caught driving on public roads. First time offenders will receive a $100 fine, but if caught a second time, the fine increases to $200. A third offense will be rewarded with a $300 fine and a year-long license suspension.

Similar to cars sporting the California lean, the squatted truck modification refers to an aesthetic change involving installing a sizable front lift kit while the rear is lowered or left stock, which results in a reverse rake. However, the South Carolina law also includes the reverse, when a vehicle is lower in the front and lifted in the rear.

The main reason why squatted trucks are banned is for safety concerns, for both the owner and other drivers on the road. Lifting a vehicle in the front and aiming it toward the sky compromises the driver’s view, making it difficult to see over the dash. It can be difficult to see squatted trucks on the road at night because the headlights are aimed upward, which also impacts how much the driver can see. Since the truck is lifted in the front, it changes the contact point of the bumper in the event of a collision. (click picture for link)

On July 1st, operating a "squatted" truck on Georgia roadways became illegal, joining at least ½ dozen other states. Georgia OCGA 40-8-6 and 40-8-6.1 highlight that any vehicle weighing between 4000 lb and not more than 7500 lb is restricted from elevating or lowering the frame height more than four inches above or below the frame of the rear of the vehicle. It also establishes that a vehicle lift can be no more than six inches above or below the manufacturer's recommendation.

Activity Committee Report

October 1, 2024

Thank you to all Golden City Cruisers Members that participated in the Villa Rica Gold Rush Parade. It was an excellent turnout! Villa Rica usually asks for 6 or 7 cars to transport city officials and as always, the Golden City Cruisers really came through. The Golden City Cruisers provided 14 beautiful vehicles. And as a compliment, the Main Street Manager said that you guys are self-sufficient and know exactly what to do every time, no guidance needed.

Because October is our season finale, and a very busy time, we will not have an activity this month.

Our planned visit to The Laurel Glen Senior Center, located at 150 Cottage Lane in Carrollton, had to be cancelled due to inclement weather. Due to our planned schedule for the rest of the year, we are unable to provide an alternate date this year. We will try to visit The Laurel Glen Senior Center in 2025.

This year has been very active, and we have had some interesting and fun visits. Though our year is coming to a close, we still have a planned activity for November. We will visit the Carrollton Senior Center on November 12th. I will provide more information as the date gets closer.

I have included the list of remaining activities for the year.

October 19, 2024 Super Cruise at The Mill

November 12, 2024 Carrollton Senior Center

The Activity Committee continues to work on scheduling fun and interesting trips for the club. There are a couple of other visits being discussed but no decision has been made about them as of yet. We will keep everyone posted.

If you have other trips you would like to take, let Rick or me know and we will certainly check it out.

Samsung's EV battery breakthrough: 600-mile charge in 9 mins, 20 year lifespan

Given the current high production costs, the initial adoption of these batteries will be confined to the "super premium" EV segment.

Updated: Aug 01, 2024 06:29 AM EST

Aman Tripathi Reprinted from interestingengineering.com

Samsung recently made a splash in the industry by showcasing its recent advancements in battery technology, especially related to solid-state batteries.

At the SNE Battery Day 2024 expo in Seoul, South Korea, the company revealed that its pilot solid-state battery production line is now fully operational. "We built a pilot line last year to mass-produce all-solid-state batteries by 2027," said Samsung SDI, as reported by The Elec. Moreover, the battery's initial batches have already been delivered to EV manufacturers for testing.

"We supplied samples to customers from the end of last year to the beginning of this year and are receiving positive feedback," Samsung SDI stated. Notably, these batteries could power electric vehicles with a 600-mile range, charge in 9 minutes, and have a lifespan of 20 years. These solid-state batteries are expected to be smaller, lighter, and safer than the lithium-ion batteries currently used in most electric vehicles. They hold significant potential to revolutionize the EV industry.

"All-solid-state batteries can enhance safety by replacing liquid components with solid ones. When used in the same pack size as existing products, they reduce weight and take up less space," highlighted the company. However, due to their high production costs, these batteries' initial application will be limited to the "super premium" EV segment. The "super premium" segment here implies a driving range of around 600 miles per charge. In addition, Samsung will be introducing high-nickel NCS products for the premium segment.

Samsung's oxide solid-state battery technology boasts an energy density of 500 Wh/kg, nearly double the 270 Wh/kg density of mainstream EV batteries. This increased density could potentially double the driving range of current electric vehicles.

Besides, Samsung's claim of 9-minute charging likely refers to the standard metric of charging a battery from 10% or 20% to 80% capacity rather than a full charge from 0% to 100%. This practice is common in the industry as charging speeds typically slow down significantly beyond the 80% mark to protect battery health and longevity.

In addition to its work on solid-state batteries, Samsung is developing more affordable lithium iron phosphate (LFP) and cobalt-free batteries, as well as a dry electrode production method to reduce costs. "We will not only match the price in the popular and entry-level segments, but also mass produce products that can be rapidly charged in 9 minutes by 2026," emphasized Samsung SDI.

That said, limited availability of charging infrastructure remains a significant hurdle. While some Chinese battery makers already offer 5C or 6C charging speeds, equivalent to 480kW and even 600kW charging stations, they are quite few in numbers.

However, notable is the visible approach of all battery makers to offer longer lifespans of batteries. CATL and other battery makers have already announced batteries with 20-year lifespans, often referred to as "million-mile" batteries. Samsung's vision to "extend the battery life to 20 years" aligns with the broader market trend.

While Samsung's solid-state battery progress is significant, the company must navigate a competitive landscape dominated by Chinese manufacturers.

Editorial Note: No, I don't expect everyone to understand everything in this article. If you do, that's great. (I don't and I'm supposed to be an electrical engineer.) But the point is simple. In my opinion, the main things holding back EVs is the range (if this is my only car), the lack of readily available charging stations, and the time it takes to recharge on the highway. New technologies in battery capacity and charging times, as promised above, clicks off two of those boxes. The developments are still in the future, and the infrastructure isn't available to dump that amount of charge, in 9 minutes, into a vehicle on the highway. But isn't it exciting to think the technology is getting close to the point where we could drive from here to Savannah and back again on one charge! And as the range gets extended to these distances, it is possible that highway charging stations won't be needed! You'll be able to get home before you need your next charge. Just a little food for thought.

...and speaking of EVs, does anyone see the irony in this???

Tesla Ordered to Fix Air Quality Violations at Fremont, CA, Factory

The Bay Area Air Quality Management District has come up with a two-step process for Tesla to address more than 110 notices of violations at the factory.

Tesla has been mandated by the Bay Area Air Quality Management District (BAAQMD) to rectify "ongoing air quality violations" at its Fremont Factory in Northern California, to curb the frequent and significant emissions issues linked to the factory's paint shop operations.

The BAAQMD issued an abatement order June 25 to halt the persistent violations. The agency said Tesla has accumulated more than 110 notices of violations related to air quality since 2019. Each of these violations has the potential to emit hundreds of pounds of illegal air pollution, posing risks to public health and the environment.

"Tesla's ongoing violations at their Fremont facility pose a risk to public health and air quality in the surrounding community," said Dr. Philip Fine, executive officer of the BAAQMD. "This order is crucial to ensure that Tesla takes prompt and effective action to stop harmful emissions and comply with all air quality regulations to protect the health of those living near the facility.”

Some of the violations stem from breakdowns in the factory's thermal oxidizer or other components of the abatement system, leading to periods where emissions are vented directly into the atmosphere without proper treatment. Additionally, Tesla has manually shut down the abatement system during equipment issues in the paint shop, exacerbating the problem.

To address these issues, the BAAQMD has outlined a two-step process for Tesla. First, the company must hire a third-party consultant to evaluate the situation and provide recommendations. Tesla must then develop and submit an implementation plan based on these recommendations to the hearing board for approval. Second, Tesla must execute the approved plan to prevent the avoidable release of uncontrolled emissions, except in cases where it is necessary for safety reasons.

This is not the first instance of air quality concerns at Tesla's Fremont Factory. In May 2021, Tesla agreed to pay a $1 million fine and install a solar roof project on top of the production plant as part of a settlement with the BAAQMD after 33 violations were identified.

...and last, here are some links to things happening with our gasoline engines. Have we forgotten the basics of quality?

I have been surprised recently at the number of engine related recalls on relatively new models. And as you can see from the partial list below, I'm not picking on one manufacturer! These problems include spun bearings, casting problems, broken valves, metallic debris left in engine, etc. Basics.
